Indicated only for an absolutely perfect vehicle in exceptionally good condition relative to its age and mileage and without any signs of damage or defects.

Indicated for vehicles corresponding to an average vehicle as found on the roads after the specific number of years and mileage. Average condition must thus be indicated for, for example, an eight-year-old vehicle with clear signs of wear and tear, minor scratches and minor paint damage and possibly minor paint damage due to corrosion, worn upholstery and minor defects in the functioning of equipment features.

Indicated for vehicles in considerably poorer condition than vehicles with similar mileage and of similar age. Several minor dents, major chips and many scratches, colour differences, lacking trim parts, holes in upholstery, possibly rust spots etc. are examples of below average condition.

The information about fuel use (km/l), number of seat belt alarms, airbags, ABS brakes, radio, NCAP test and ESP system is directly relevant to the calculation of the vehicle registration tax. Therefore, it is important that the information you provide is correct. If it turns out that the information does not agree with the information stated in the Danish Register of Motor Vehicles (Motorregisteret) or entered in the Register by a vehicle inspection centre in connection with, for example, a re-registration, it may mean that the amount of the vehicle registration tax stated in the binding ruling will either be larger or smaller.
